Publisher's Note

While I'm excited to present our Winter 2024 publishing program, I'm writing this note in the summer of 2023, soon after I've received sad news. Dundurn Press's founder and Publisher Emeritus, Kirk Howard, passed away on June 30, 2023. Kirk was an affable, kind, and courteous man who led his team with quiet determination. Many of us currently at the press worked with him for years and learned much from him before he sold the company in 2019. The entire Dundurn team has been reflecting on how his decades of leadership and hard work underpin our ability to provide quality works to book lovers today.

Kirk established Dundurn Press in 1972 to publish books on Canadian history. The press expanded over the ensuing decades, particularly during the 1990s and 2000s, when Dundurn acquired other independent Canadian publishers, effectively expanding the list to encompass numerous genres. Thousands of books were published during Kirk's tenure and many were nominated for awards such as the Commonwealth Writers' Prize, the Governor General's Award, the Speaker's Book Award, and the City of Ottawa, Victoria, and Toronto book awards.

During his long career, Kirk played a significant part in the development of Canadian publishing, holding numerous industry posts, such as the President of the Association of Canadian Publishers and Treasurer of Livres Canada Books, among others. In 2019, he was immensely pleased to top off his career and mark his retirement with his investiture into the Order of Canada.

Our current list continues Dundurn Press's strong tradition of non-fiction with Jon Peirce's Work Less, a deep dive into work culture in step with our times. Two of our history titles take a forensic look into two very different war crimes: the sinking of a hospital ship in Nate Hendley's Atrocity on the Atlantic, and the trial of Kanao Inouye in Patrick Brode's Traitor by Default.

Our literary imprint, Rare Machines, excites more than ever with Secret Sex: An Anthology. The best authors on the scene — Heather O'Neill, francesca ekwuyasi, Michael Winter, Drew Hayden Taylor, Zoe Whittall, plus nineteen others — have each provided a short piece of sex writing for the book. But we're not going to tell you who came up with what — you'll just have to dream that up yourself.

It seems fitting that in Winter 2024 we have three new editions of popular books originally published by Kirk Howard: The Canadian Constitution by Adam Dodek, The Avro Arrow by Palmiro Campagna, and Parenting Your Parents by Bart Mindszenty and Dr. Michael Gordon. I am so pleased to be able to honour Kirk's legacy by presenting these Dundurn classics to a new readership.

Fiction

Rare
Machines

New risky fiction – with no names attached.

If authors could write their sex scenes anonymously, would they be less reticent? Would they include the stuff they didn't want their mom, or the newspapers, to read?

Here are twenty-four original short pieces of fiction on the theme of sex, by twenty-four prominent authors living in Canada. Heather O'Neill, Lisa Moore, Michael Winter, Zoe Whittall, Pasha Malla, francesca ekwuyasi, Drew Hayden Taylor, Tamara Faith Berger, and Susan Swan are among these. But we won't tell you who wrote what.

The pieces are uncensored, unpredictable; they veer from graphic to subtle to surreal. There is straight sex and gay sex. There is frustrated sex. There is sex that happens entirely through text messages. Secret Sex is a book of erotic imaginings by some of Canada's most sophisticated and respected writers, working in total freedom, secretly.

Fiction

Rare
Machines

Through luminescent light, ancestral paths, and a Caribbean spirit-inflected world, Naniki explores the musings and inner workings of the deep blue – the Caribbean Sea – and its shape-shifting sea beings.

As the sea mirrors the light from the blue skies, and its depths are exposed by daggers of sunlight, so too Naniki reveals and honours the Indigenous roots of the Caribbean and its people, whose destiny is tied to the sea, the vessel of collective memory. Set in the Caribbean Basin, Naniki is a futuristic cross-cultural tale imbued with magic realism.

Co-protagonists Amana and Skelele are made of water and air, the essence of their beings intertwined with Taino and African ancestry. They evolved as elemental beings of the Anthropocene, and shape-shifting with their naniki “active spirits” or animal avatars, they begin an archipelagic journey to see the strange future they dreamed of. Until devastation erupts.

Tasked by their elders to go back in time to the source of the First People’s knowledge, they must surmount historical and mythological challenges alike. How can they navigate and overcome to regenerate themselves, their love, their islands, and seas?

Inspector Green suspects a homicide relates to an elite teen hockey player in this gripping police procedural for fans of Louise Penny and Michael Connelly.

A seventeen-year-old sets out to meet her secret lover by Ottawa's Hog's Back Falls. Three days later, her body washes up in the shallows. The public fears a sexual predator is on the loose, but Inspector Green suspects a more personal connection.

His search for answers draws him into the world of elite young athletes, drugs, and teenage sexuality. Then a social worker who knows too much disappears, and blood is found in the house of a star with NHL prospects. Unless Green can unravel the truth, how many others will pay the ultimate price for a young man's dreams?

Tony Vicar is wrestling against the ordinary patterns his life has fallen into, until dark secrets and a dangerous woman from the past threaten to upend it all.

After the devastating fire that nearly destroyed his hotel and pub, Tony Vicar has rebuilt both Hotel Valentine and The Vicar's Knickers once again. But the glamour of being a barman has lost some of its lustre and the responsibility is incessant. Even a couple of famous television mediums determined to uncover the truth about the hotel's mysterious ghost can't seem to stir Vicar from the unwelcome state of "normality" his life has settled into.

But life in Tye Lagoon has a way of veering away from normal, as proven when femme fatale Serena, unexpectedly freed of criminal charges, returns to town to steal back baby Frankie – who she abandoned on Vicar's doorstep two years before – and hopefully ensnare Tony in the process. Serena hits a new high in outrageous and dangerous behaviour, allowing no one, especially not Tony's girlfriend Jacquie O, to get in her way.

On the defensive, Vicar tries to protect his little family, while simultaneously attempting to stop the endless circles of his life and learn lessons about authenticity, caring, and the surprising power of his effect on others ... including his mother-in-law.

Vince R. Ditrich is the author of The Liquor Vicar and The Vicar's Knickers, as well as the drummer and manager of the band Spirit of the West. Vince lives on Vancouver Island, B.C.

You can't have a healthy economy with an unhealthy work force. Work Less proposes ways to reduce work hours and keep workers happier, healthier, and more productive.

Recent years have revealed just how stressed out many workers are. While the trend to longer hours has been developing for several decades, the trend's effects have been aggravated during the pandemic by the growing use of Zoom and other new technologies for meetings with clients, customers, and co-workers.

Exhausted and fed up, today's workers are starting to insist on shorter hours and greater flexibility as to where they do their work. There is growing consensus that the forty-hour week, the norm since the 1940s, has outlived its usefulness. And there is an urgent need for new work schedules that adequately reflect the far greater intensity of work today, as well as the greater non-work demands on a work force that is nearly half female.

Work Less offers practical scheduling suggestions to employers and workers and numerous policy options for government policy-makers to improve working conditions.

Jon Peirce has been writing about work hours and the world of work for much of the past twenty-five years. He has worked as a journalist, university professor, and union staffer, and is the author of Canadian Industrial Relations. Jon lives and writes in Gatineau, QC.

For Joey Philion, surviving the fire was only the beginning.

On the morning of March 10th, 1988, in Orillia, Ontario, a house fire engulfed fourteen-year-old Joey Philion in flames. He suffered third degree burns on 95 percent of his body. Doctors didn't think he would make it through the night.

After the Flames is about one of the world's most famous burn victims: his incredible survival, his nightmarish path to recovery that helped revolutionize medical treatment for burn victims worldwide, the fame thrust upon him after he was declared a hero from the media, and the tumultuous years that followed, most of which were spent under the microscope of an unforgiving public eye.

The story also follows Joey's family, including his mother Linda, stepfather Mike, and younger brother Danny, all of whom endured their own tremendous hardships in the wake of a fire that changed their lives forever.

Jonathan R. Rose is an avid traveller, spending more than half of his adult life abroad, with no intention of stopping. He is the author of the books, Carrion, The Spirit of Laughter, and Wedlock. He currently lives in Mississauga, Ontario.

The story of a cancer diagnosis that tore apart a family and how those left behind put it back together, told one hazy memory at a time.

Gonzalo is married to his high school sweetheart, Erica. With one child already and another on the way, they purchase their first home and the future looks rosy. Unfortunately, things take a turn for the worse when they discover Erica has terminal cancer during a routine ultrasound. What follows is a heart-rending journey that still manages to find moments of humour and joy as Gonzalo prepares his newborn for life while simultaneously saying goodbye to his wife.

A memoir told in fragments, Never Better is about reconciling hope with tragedy and doing the best with the cards you've been dealt when you're a widower and father of two sons under two.

Gonzalo Riedel is a writer and editor. He's the author of the story collection Behaving This Way is All I Have Left. He lives in Winnipeg, with his two kids, and with ghosts.

At the end of World War II, a young Japanese Canadian would stand trial and face execution for having committed war crimes and betraying his country.

One of the most bizarre stories to emerge at the end of the Second World War was that of Kanao Inouye. Born in Kamloops, B.C. in 1916, he had relocated to his ancestral homeland of Japan, and by 1942 was a translator for the Japanese army. Ironically, he was assigned to the prisoner of war camp in Hong Kong where he became infamous as one of the “most sadistic guards” over the Canadian survivors of the Battle of Hong Kong. Scores of prisoners would attest to his brutality administered in revenge for the treatment he had received growing up in Canada.

His reputation was such that he was quickly apprehended after the war and faced charges of war crimes. But his subsequent trials became mired in questions as to who he really was. Was he a Canadian forced to serve in the Japanese military machine? Or was he a devoted soldier of his Emperor obeying his superiors?

Patrick Brode has practised law since 1977. He is the author of many books on the history of law and the prosecution of war crimes. Five of his books have been shortlisted for awards including Dying for a Drink for the 2019 Crime Writers of Canada Award. He lives in Windsor, Ontario.

How a German submarine sank a Canadian military hospital ship during the First World War and sparked outrage.

On the evening of June 27, 1918, the Llandoverly Castle – an unarmed, clearly marked hospital ship used by the Canadian military – was torpedoed off the Irish Coast by U-Boat 86, a German submarine.

Sinking hospital ships violated international law. To conceal his actions, the U-86 commander had the submarine deck guns fire on survivors. One lifeboat escaped with witnesses to the atrocity. Global outrage over the attack ensued.

The sinking of the Llandoverly Castle was adjudicated at the Leipzig War Crimes Trials, an attempt to establish justice after hostilities ceased. The Llandoverly Castle case resulted in a historic legal precedent that guided subsequent war crime prosecutions, including the Nuremberg Trials.

Atrocity on the Atlantic explores the Llandoverly Castle sinking, the people impacted by the attack, and the reasons why this wartime atrocity was largely forgotten.

Nate Hendley is a journalist and author of several books, primarily on crime-related subjects. His book, The Beatle Bandit (about a murderous 1964 bank heist) won the Crime Writers of Canada Award of Excellence for Non-Fiction in 2022. He lives in Toronto.

The harsh moralistic worldview of Jason Kenney has spurred right-wing populism to the mainstream in Canadian politics, but he unleashed forces he couldn't control.

From Jason Kenney's days as an anti-abortion activist at the University of San Francisco, and through his years as a Canadian Taxpayers Federation lobbyist, Reform MP, top cabinet minister in the Harper government, and Alberta premier, he has been single-mindedly driven to bring his harsh moralistic worldview into the mainstream.

Kenney took on the old guard of Canada's liberal consensus and won, playing a key role in shifting the country's political discussion to the right. But the very right-wing populist forces Kenney cultivated would come back to haunt him.

Jeremy Appel has observed Alberta politics and reported on various aspects of Kenney's agenda since 2017, when Kenney made his way across the province in his big blue pickup truck to rile up aggrieved conservatives. Kenneyism examines Kenney's political beliefs, his rise through federal political ranks, and his ultimate resignation from the leadership of the United Conservative Party.

Jeremy Appel has been covering politics in Alberta since 2017. His work has appeared in CBC News, the National Observer, Jacobin, Ricochet, the Breach, the Maple, and the Canadian Jewish News, among other places. An expanded edition of the bestselling book, including newly discovered American records that shed further light on the disastrous cancellation of the Avro Arrow.

The controversial cancellation of the Avro Arrow – an extraordinary achievement of Canadian military aviation – continues to inspire debate today. When the program was scrapped in 1959, all completed aircraft and those awaiting assembly were destroyed, along with tooling and technical information. Was abandoning the program the right decision? Did Canada lose more than it gained?

Brimming with information to fill the gaps in the Arrow's troubled history, this new edition also brings to light recently discovered documents that answer whether the United States government wished Canada to continue the development of what was considered the world's most advanced interceptor aircraft.

Palmiro Campagna is the author of Storms of Controversy: The Secret Avro Arrow Files Revealed, Requiem for a Giant: A.V. Roe Canada and the Avro Arrow, and The UFO Files: The Canadian Connection Exposed. He lives in Ottawa.

A fully updated edition of the first-ever primer on Canada's Constitution – for anyone who wants to understand the supreme law of the land.

The Canadian Constitution makes Canada's Constitution readily accessible to readers. It includes the complete text of the Constitution Acts of 1867 and 1982, accompanied by an explanation of what each section means, along with a glossary of key terms, a short history of the Constitution, and a timeline of important constitutional events. The Canadian Constitution explains how the Supreme Court of Canada works and describes the people and issues involved in leading constitutional cases.

Author Adam Dodek, a law professor at the University of Ottawa, provides the only index to the Canadian Constitution, as well as fascinating background on the Supreme Court and the Constitution. This new edition is a great primer for those reading Canada's Constitution for the first time and is a useful reference work for students and scholars.

Adam Dodek is a professor and the former dean of the University of Ottawa Common Law Section. He teaches and writes about the Canadian Constitution and the Supreme Court of Canada. A compendium of family scenarios for those dealing with the guilt, worry, and difficult decisions that come with eldercare.

- Is it time for your aging father to stop driving?
- How can you balance your career opportunities with your mother's care needs?
- Can your parents cope on their own?
- Is it time for long-term care? Given their reluctance, is that even an option?

Millions of people are dealing with aging parents and are stunned with the complexities and demands of their care. As demographics change and societies adapt, that caring – that parenting – isn't getting any simpler.

In the fourth edition of this eldercare classic, advocate Bart J. Mindszenty and geriatrician Dr. Michael Gordon present twenty-seven case studies of families working through the eldercare puzzle. With new scenarios covering legalized marijuana and medically assisted dying, this revised and updated edition of Parenting Your Parents makes the case for good planning, family unity, and being aware of your loved ones' health.

With the help of Gordon and Mindszenty's expert advice, care providers are able to shed guilt and worry and become confident that they have done all they could to make their parents' latter years as fulfilling and comfortable as possible.

As an only child, Bart J. Mindszenty spent years caring for his aging parents, and is an eldercare advocate and author of several books about aging in the family. Now a retired communications executive, he lives in Toronto.

Dr. Michael Gordon was Canada's first Royal College Geriatrician and became VP of Medicine at Toronto's Baycrest Geriatric Centre. He is a University of Toronto Emeritus Professor of Medicine and lives in Toronto.

Now offering FREE freight in Canada through UTP Distribution

RETURNS POLICY

All returns must be properly packaged, unmarked (including pricing), and in re-saleable condition. No returns will be accepted before three months or after twelve months from the date of delivery. Returns will be credited only against future purchases. Credit notes must be used within twelve months of being issued. The publisher reserves the right to sell certain titles or to certain accounts on a nonreturnable basis. Please send all returns to the UTP Distribution centre and include the invoice number.
